Queen's Birthday Poplar Planted

hildren from Clunbury School joined residents If from the village to plant a tree to commemorate the Queen's 90th birthday. It was a lovely September afternoon and all enjoyed the walk, the planting and elderflower cordial made by the Nursery children.

The tree was a cutting from the Black Poplar Arbor Tree in Aston on Clun, famed for its role as a tree traditionally dressed with flags for Oak Apple Day - a practice dating back to Celtic times. The tradition was revived to remember the marriage between John Marston and Mary Carter in 1786 and continues to this day. Sadly the parent tree was brought down in a storm twenty-one years ago and had to be replaced with a new one.

Barbara and Jeremy Freeman have nurtured a cutting (taken by Barbara's father Cliff Williams) for many years and the resulting tree is now able to

Also, to mark the year, and in memory of her husband Jerry, Eileen Breach has sponsored a time-capsule which children from the school will help to fill.

St Swithin's Harvest Festival and Churchyard Working Party

The service of thanksgiving for harvest on 14 October started with Rev Simon Mondon thanking all those who had contributed to the glowingly rich decoration of the church - the rich colours of autumn and harvest sang out against the austere stone and plaster of St Swithin's.

The theme of thanks continued as Simon thanked farmers for looking after our beautiful countryside and putting food on our tables. He talked of the labour and toil of farming, of loneliness, and of course of the weather. It is a calling, not just a job, he reminded us.

After the service we retired to the Village Hall, where a whole new reason for thankfulness was laid out for us to eat. More thanks were given to all who contributed to the magnificent supper, and to the washing up. And perhaps especial thanks for the conviviality of the evening are due to John Jones who ran the bar so well! So well, indeed, that the final parties were there until 11pm. It was a thoroughly evenina eniovable - and as celebrating farmer remarked: this was the first year for some time that harvest was got home before the Harvest Festival. Proceeds from the supper will go to Shropshire Rural Support.

If you go down to the Church today you are sure of a big surprise, well maybe not that big, but the Churchyard is looking a whole lot more cared for. Ivy has been removed from all the walls of the building, inroads have been made into brambles, many self-sown trees have been felled, graves have emerged from the thickets, and all rubbish has been carted away.

Grateful thanks from Rev Simon, the Churchwardens and the Parochial Church Council, to all the kind souls who turned up on a lovely sunny day (October 15) and worked so hard with only coffee and tea, biscuits and a lovely lemon cake to sustain them.

St Swithin's really does belong to all of us.

The Genus Lavender

A talk by Joanna Spencer from

oanna and Robin Spencer have been growing lavender at Wellbank Farm, Pickstock, near Newport, since 2005. This family-run business was first inspired by early memories of the heady scent of lavender in childhood gardens and family holidays in Provence. After much research, two hundred plugs were planted in 2002 and many battles with rabbits, weeds, wind and wet weather ensued. The Spencers now make a wide range of homemade products using their own essential oil. They have an orchard planted with over thirty varieties of specialist plants which flower from early June to late September. The farm and tea shop are open to the public and hosts group visits, special events and talks. There are now over 25,000 plants in three acres, so it will be interesting to discover how the rabbits and other challenges were overcome! Plants and products will be available to purchase at the meeting.

Kissing: Still Fashionable?

It is said that 'when gorse is out of bloom, kissing's out of fashion'. Should you wish for confirmation that the activity remains fashionable take a walk up onto the Black Hill. Here you will find plenty of gorse still decked with vivid goldenyellow flowers on spiky twigs.

That kissing remains strongly in fashion in our parish despite the onset of winter, is thanks in part to the presence of two species of gorse. The common gorse flowers at any time from January onwards, peaking in spring, though the occasional flower may be found at almost any time of year. Come July it is the turn of the western gorse, which flowers on into the start of winter; it is the flowers of this species which may still be found in quantity on the Black Hill.

If you go in search of it, you may see a yellow flower or two on the broom bushes too. This is a related, but spineless plant, whose long, straight, green stems when gathered and bound to a stave would once have served as a broom of the type used by witches, not least perhaps at Halloween. And, late though it is, the yellow flowers of ragwort are in evidence here and there as well, as are those of other members of the daisy family.

Goodbye to Our Phone Boxes?

Shropshire Council (SC) has received notification from BT of their proposal to remove the phone boxes from Clunbury, Clunton and Kempton. Only the Kempton box has been used to make calls (3) in the last twelve months.

SC is seeking the formal views of the Parish Council before deciding whether to exercise its powers of 'local veto' and insist that the payphone is retained.

If it is decided that a box is no longer required for telephone calls, it is possible to have the pay phone equipment removed and the box kept in situ under the 'Adopt a Kiosk' scheme. This however can only be done by a local council or charitable association.

If you wish to express any views concerning retention or adoption of phone boxes contact any parish councillor.

Memories of Dr Gandy Needed!

r Richard Harding, a retired doctor living in Ludlow, is researching the history of Clunbury and surrounding villages, using the medical practice of Dr Thomas Gandy as his framework, and wants to record your memories. Dr Gandy was the GP in Clunbury from about 1930 until at least the outbreak of World War Two, and his wife Ida wrote a book, 'An Idler on the Shropshire Borders', and plays for the BBC. One of these, 'The Breaking of the Spell', was broadcast on the Home Service in June 1936, and was, according to the Radio Times, 'presented by The Clunbury Players'. Dr Gandy fished the Clun. The Gandys had three children, referred to, in Gillian's recent obituary, as Christopher, Robin and Gillian, But in her book, Ida refers to went on to have distinguished careers away from the village. At the same period as the Gandys were in Clunbury, another country GP, Dr Will Pickles of Wensleydale, did the boys as Thomas and Oliver, and Gillian as Jill. All three pioneering work on infectious diseases. This work was possible because of the isolation of the Dale. The Clun valley shares many characteristics with Wensleydale, though it is smaller. Memories you may have of Dr Gandy and his practice, of being ill and attended by him, of epidemics that closed the school, or of having a baby, all are of interest; and any others.

Ida's book refers to several people and events in the village during their time there, including: The Clunbury Players; meeting Emperor Hailie Sellassie at Walcot Hall; Jimmy the fiddler, who played at weddings; a forest fire on Titter Hill that threatened Hopton Castle; red squirrels aplenty; a girl who came to live in the village who was a Basque refugee, presumably from the Spanish Civil War; and Pamponi's Mammoth Show, an Italian couple with a monkey who did a touring show and came to the village in summer 1939, just before the war.

Were you at school then? Were you in the Clunbury Players? Did Dr Gandy attend you at any time? Richard wants to record your memories of life at that time. He will happily come and see you at home. Please contact him. His details are:
